HARRIS LEINER ON 20 YEARS OF PRIVATE PRACTICE

Harris is an equity shareholder with Barnes & Diehl, P.C. and has focused on family law since graduating from the University of Richmond, T.C. Williams School of Law in 2001. Representing clients in the Court of Appeals, Circuit Courts and Juvenile and Domestic Relations District Courts all across the Commonwealth of Virginia, he has earned a reputation as skilled negotiator and litigator. This has resulted in Harris being named to Virginia Business Magazine's Legal Elite as well as SuperLawyers every year since 2010.

In addition to his dedication in providing zealous representation for his clients, Harris believes in giving back to the community. He was head coach for the YMCA Cross Country Program for 3 years and has been honored as a charity event organizer for the Make-a-Wish Foundation, St. Jude's Children's Hospital and LINC (Legal Information Network for Cancer). Harris is an avid Florida Gators fan and spent 15 years playing bass guitar with local cover band Sloth Loves Chunk.

Harris lives in Richmond, Virginia with his wife and two children and feels that his experience as a dedicated husband and father help him better understand and effectively represent clients going through family law cases. Says Harris; "I recognize that every family case is unique and requires a personalized approach to its resolution. It is my sincere goal to help people get through the process as favorably as possible."
